4 Courses

Introduction to Public Speaking

Speaking to inform: Discussing complex ideas with clear explanations and dynamic slides

Speaking to persuade: Motivating audiences with solid arguments and moving language

Speaking to Inspire: Ceremonial and Motivational Speeches

Aug 3, 2025

Koyyada Rohith

has successfully completed the online, non-credit Specialization

Dynamic Public Speaking

Good speaking is your most enduring job skill. This four-course specialization will provide you with the instruction, experience, and practice to develop and deliver compelling presentations. If you're a novice speaker, this specialization will provide the essential tools you need to design any presentation and the practice and confidence to deliver them well. If you're an experienced speaker, these courses can give you deeper insight into your practices, why they work, and how you can continue to refine your craft. This specialization takes a practical approach to speech skills. Drawing from the established knowledge in communication, rhetoric, linguistics, and argumentation, each course balances proven ideas with lots of speech practice.

Dr. Matt McGarrity
Teaching Professor
Department of Communication

The online specialization named in this certificate may draw on material from courses taught on-campus, but the included courses are not equivalent to on-campus courses. Participation in this online specialization does not constitute enrollment at this university. This certificate does not confer a University grade, course credit or degree, and it does not verify the identity of the learner.

Verify this certificate at:
https://coursera.org/verify/specialization/U3GQCHA15IEC